Teachers Challenge Evaluation Guide

Teacher representatives have obtained a temporary restraining order preventing the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District from "enforcing or applying" employee evaluation guidelines adopted last August.

In issuing the order, Monterey County Superior Court Judge Nat A. Agliano instructed the district to either "meet and confer" with teacher representatives regarding the guidelines or appear in his courtroom on January 5 at 9:30 a.m. to show cause as to why his order was not complied with.

The district's Certificated Employees Council, the Monterey Bay Teachers Association and Sam Alley, the association's president, were named as petitioners in the superior court action. They charged that in adopting the guidelines the school board violated the state's Winton Act, which set up machinery for teacher and board representatives to "meet and confer" over such things as salaries and working conditions.

Although the district's legal counsel is still preparing a formal response to the order, superintendant Allan Petersdorf denied that the district violated the Winton Act.

Petersdorf stated that, "the district has always been willing to meet and confer. But there is some question in regard to what the Certificated Employees Council feels is meet and conferable. The CEC hasn't defined specifically what aspects of the guidlines it wants to discuss."

The new evaluation guidelines were mandated by legislation known as the Stull Bill. The measure required a complete revamping of the process for evaluating the competancy of all certificated school employees, including teachers and administrators. The superintendent said a committee composed of teacher and administrator representatives worked throughout 1971-72 on the guidelines, which had to be put into use by last September 1 to comply with requirements of the legislation. He said documents pertaining to teacher evaluation were distributed to all teachers "nine or 10 times" throughout the year to insure that teachers had an opportunity to be involved in development of the evaluation guidelines.

Trustees adopted the guidelines last August 14.

Petitioners in the court action say that, although they expressed interest in meeting and conferring with board representatives in drawing up the guidelines, the district "refused to meet and confer."

They note that they asked the district on June 8, 1972, to seek a legal opinion that would indicate whether or not the guidelines were a "meet and confer item." An opinion was sought on July 1972, and delivered in a letter dated August 7. The legal opinion indicated that portions of the guidelines were subject to meet and confer procedures.

Petersdorf said the Certificated Employees Council was given copies of the proposed guidelines on July 24, and that the school board got copies August 7. The gudelines were adopted on August 14, he said, because the board had to comply with the September 1 deadline. Teh Superintendent noted that, in adopting the guidelines, the school board suggested that the document be referred to the CEC for review.

"We feel we had massive involvement of teachers in developing the guidelines, and in doing so that we complied fully with the intent of the Winton Act," Petersdorf said.

"The point seems to be that the board did not give sufficient opprotunity for meeting and conferring, but the board felt it had to meet the September 1 deadline, and establish an evaluation prodedure to meet the requirements of the law."

Tells Of Change

Copies of a payroll envelope leaflet explaining recent changes in the social security law are available at all social security offices, according to Thomas Pelkey, branch manager of the Monterey social security office. These pamphlets are available in Spanish as well as English.

Called "Your 1973 Social Security Deducation," the leaflet explains how payroll contributions to social security starting in January 1973 will build increased retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for employees, employers, and self-employed people, Pelkey said.

NUMBER ONE - Home Delivery Salesman of the Year for Meadow Gold Dairies was Tony Silva (right) who services Seaside area. Mel Boegel, California-Oregon Home Delivery Coordinator for Meadow Gold Dairies, presented Silva with plaque honoring him. Silva, retail route-salesman for Meadow Gold Dairies, earned award for outstanding achievement in growth sales, new customers and collections.

Local Policemen Spread Joy

Things should be said about the good deeds policemen do. They are an asset to the community in many ways.

When the gas main was broken on Fremont Blvd. a few days ago, even policemen who were off duty came to the rescue by directing traffic and warning motorists and pedestrians against smoking in the area.

The policemen were on the receiving end of much verbal harrassment from business-men in the blocked off area, even though they were probably saving the establishments from instant explosion.

But one policeman should get the "Policemen's Award of the Year" for what he did. Christmas morning he cruised around stopping kids who obviously were riding new bicycles. He checked the bikes and everyone who had an unregistered bike was escorted to the Fire Department and issued a registration - paid for by the policeman.

Some of the lucky ones were: Joseph Horne, Jackie Horne, Janice Horne, Steve Horne, and Nadia Ward.

Hats off to the Seaside policemen. Without them the city would not be the same.

More Stars Added to Clambake

The list of celebrities continues to grow as sportsmen John Brodie, Jack Kramer, Bill Rigney, Tommy John and Alvin Dark will head for Pebble Beach January 25 to compete in Bing Crosby's annual Clambake.

Jack Lemmon, James Garner, Andy Williams, Clint Eastwood, Phil Harris, Robert Stack and former astronaut, Alan Shepard, are also among the celebrities who will tee-off for this 32nd annual event which benefits the Bing Crosby Youth Fund.

A total of 168 amateurs and 168 professionals will be paired and tournament play will rotate the three Pebble Beach courses, with the low 70 professionals and low 33 pro-am teams in the Sunday finals at the Pebble Beach course.

Qualifying for non-exempt professionals will be held Monday, January 22 at Spyglass Hill. Tuesday and Wednesday (the 23rd and 24th) practice rounds will be in progress at all courses. Tournament play begins Thursday, January 25.

Season tickets are now on sale for $25 each. Season tickets entitle the holder to watch the entire week of golf, including a play-off if necessary.

Daily tickets will not be limited and can be purchased the week of the tournament at any of the four gates leading into Del Monte Forest.

For further information, please write: Bing Crosby Golf, Box 36, Pebble Beach, Ca. 93953; or call: (408) 624-3811.

Taxes Are Distributed

State Controller Hugh Flournoy has announced the distribution of $3,409,549 to counties and cities as the December apportionment of cigarette Tax.

Monterey County received $6,084 and Seaside got $3,428.79. The 58 counties' share was $670,437 and the cities' share totaled $2,739,112.

This distribution represents 30 percent of the revenue deposited in the Cigarette Tax Fund during the month of November 1972, less the State's administrative costs of $23,075.

Children's Classes Are Announced

Pacific Grove Art Center is offering children's art classes beginning January 8,.

Barbara Tappe will teach Drawing and Painting for children from 8 to 10 years of age. The children will be guided in "telling a story" with color, form and composition in creating alive and personal pictures. She will also teach Figure and Portrait Painting for 10 to 14 year olds. She describes the class as "A fascinating study of the human being with not only the artistic eye, but also with the emotional, psychological and spiritual eye." The tuition for these classes will be $12 for 8 sessions plus $2 for supplies. The hours are to be arranged.

Buff Savo will be teaching two art workshops for children.

There will be a 3-D Workshop recommended for children ages 6 to 12. It will involve a variety of projects, mostly three dimensional; sculpture, casting in plaster, mobiles, and puppets. The class will be held on Tuesdays from 3:30 to 5:30.

A 2-D Workshop for 6 - 12 year olds will explore the techniques and uses of the flat surface; printing, painting, drawing and collage. The class will meet on Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30.

Tuition for Miss Savo's classes will be $12 for 6 weeks plus $2 for supplies.

For registration and further information please contact Pacific Grove Art Center, 568 Lighthouse Ave., Pacific Grove. Telephone 375-2208.

Mini-Bike

The Seaside Park and Recreation Department will host a meeting for those mini-bike enthusiasts interested in forming a Seaside Spartan Mini-Bike Club.

Everyone is welcome: boys and girls who own a mini-bike or those of you who would like to. Parents are especially encouraged to come and help start the Spartans Club off with Seaside support. Needed in Club will be a race director, pet steward, starter, technical & safety inspector.

The meeting will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m., at the Seaside Youth Center located at 1185 Wheeler Street in Seaside.

Second Concert Planned

William Brown

Second in the concert series, the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association will present William Brown, tenor, at the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium on Monday evening, January 8, at 8:15 p.m.

Born in Jackson, Mississippi, during his high school years he studied piano and trumpet and, at sixteen, was playing in a local jazz band. He entered Jackson State College with a scholarship in trumpet, but soon changed to voice, graduating as a voice major. He continued graduate studies at Indiana University School of Music, earning a Masters Degree in voice, and has worked towards his Doctorate at the Peabody Conservatory.

During the military service, William Brown appeared as a soloist with the United States Navy Band from 1926 to 1966, and performed at the White House before Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson and their guests.

Since 1967, Mr. Brown has appeared in five world and U.S. premieres, one marking his debut with the New York Opera and another his debut on national television. He was the first soloist to appear four times in one season with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, singing in, among other works, the Berlioz Requiem and the Beethoven Ninth Symphony. He has also sung in concert with the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood under Erich Leinsdorf in the original version of Beethoven's Fidelio.

For three summers William Brown was a leading tenor with the Lake George Opera Festival in New York State. In the 1968-69 season, he made his New York City Opera debut in Hugo Weisgall's "Nine Rivers from Jordan" and sang in the premiere of David Amram's "Twelfth Night" at Hunter College in New York, concerning which High Fidelity and Musical America said "the most beautiful singing of all was done by William Brown, who revealed a marvelously rich, smooth, and controlled tenor. His debut with OPERA/SOUTH took place in November 1972 in "Highway No. 1, U.S.A.", an opera by William Grant Still.

Touring as a recitalist since 1968, Mr. Brown continues to receive critical acclaim, in addition to his duties as Associate Professor of Voice at the University of North Florida.

There Is Not Enough For The Greedy

Recently I was reading an article by Robert A. Schumann, president of a Tanning Company in Chicago. I understand he also is president of Leather Industries of America. The article was interesting to say the least.

The Nations of the world are lining up for a major confrontation. The world war that is brewing won't be fought with bombs are bullets. Its weapons will be currency manipulation and labor rates. The prize will be the limited natural resources of an over-populated world. For the loser, the cost could be hunger, a depressed standard of living and national decline.

The US has already suffered its first reverses: its foreigh trade balance is written in red ink, its currency is degraded and devalued, and its natural resources are fleeing the land on ships and planes.

Let us consider our most recent economic Pearl Harbor. This country is the largest cattlehide producer in the world. We have enough hides to make all the shoes that Americans need - and still leave million of hides to help shoe other folks. Yet leather shoes have gone up in price. Why?

First, because Argentina, until very recently the second largest "free market" for hides,

CARE Helping Nicaraguans

CARE announced recently that its staff members from Honduras and Costa Rica have been in and out of Managua since Saturday to assist CARE's Director and staff there in assessing needs and set in motion emergency aid for victims of the earthquake in Nicaragua.

Last Sunday, CARE's Director in Costa Rica went to Nicaragua with truckloads of feeding utensils - pots, pans, spoons, plates, loaves of bread and 40,000 pounds of milk powder and cooking oil. These items were set up on the ground of Retiro Hospital in Managua for the first CARE feeding operation.

Since then another 200 tons of food supplies are being routed from Costa Rica into Nicaragua for relief feeding stations to be set up outside the evacuated city.

A recent telephone request to the CARE mission from the office of the President of Nicaragua and the U.S. Ambassador's office outlined the urgent need for food to feed 120,000 men, women and children for a period of from 15-20 days inside the stricken city of Managua. Four hundred fifty tons of food stockpiled in CARE bases in Honduras are ready for airlift as soon as called for. The CARE Director in Honduras has also been authorized to make initial immediate local purchases of $5,000 worth of most needed supplies depending on word to be relayed from Nicaragua.

In addition, a six member medical team stationed at the 200 bed hospital in Choluteca, Southern Honduras, by MEDICO, a service of CARE, has been alerted and is awaiting the arrival of injured evacuees. Also, the CARE/MEDICO team in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, is standing by awaiting injured evacuees who are expected.

A San Francisco man, James Puccetti, is Director of CARE in Nicaragua, where he has been stationed since 1971. Previous to his assignment in Nicaragua, Mr. Puccetti was Assistant Chief of Mission for CARE in Honduras.

Funds are needed to help feed, shelter and provide medical care for refugees and to begin rebuilding as soon as possible. Contributions should be sent to CARE/Nicaragua Earthquake Fund, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Meeting Is Monday

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will meet Monday, January 8, in the Community Room of the OMonterey Public Library.

The chapter's regular monthly meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. At 8:30 p.m., the program will start. This month's program will be a discussion of women's control over their bodies entitled "Our Bodies, Our Selves."

All meetings of NOW are open to the public. Both women and men are encouraged to attend.

Responsibility In Civil Rights Rests On Nixon, Says Senator Humphrey

AUSTIN--Senator Hubert H. Humphrey has placed the major responsibility for civil rights progress squarely upon President Nixon, in his remarks at the Lyndon B. Johnson civil rights symposium, held at the LBJ Library here.

"Just as he confounded his critics with his dramatic trips to China and the Soviet Union, or his adoption of wage and price controls, Mr. Nixon could just as easily seize the initiative on the civil rights front," he said.

"I know, or at least I assume, that a second term President must begin to think seriously about the historical judgments of his Administration. And I can imagine no more harsh indictment than his having failed to lead the United States in the most critical and urgent area of domestic concern."

In achieving civil rights progress, Humphrey emphasized the importance of identifying the struggle as one embracing the rights, privileges and duties of all Americans.

"There just aren't enough Blacks, Chicanos, Indians and Puerto Ricans to form an electoral majority," Humphrey stated. "And overemphasis on the needs of these identifiable groups can be and has been counterproductive.

"The Democratic Party got into trouble when its internal reforms came to be perceived as establishing specific quotas that favored young people, women and Blacks over the more traditional elements of our party.

"And, by the same token, I would argue that the civil rights movement got into trouble when more and more people came to see it as an effort to give Blacks a special break that was afforded no other group in American society.

"We know this perception is wrong. But it exists whether we like it or not."

Instead Humphrey asserted that political leaders ought to be emphasizing that the new dimension of civil rights "is the right of every American to an opportunity to use his or her talents, to develop his or her abilities and capacities, to make a constructive contribution to society.

"Out of this coalition of needs, hopes, fears and injustices, we must fashion a new Bill of Rights for all Americans."

This Bill of Rights must include the following, he said:

* The right to a meaningful life, free from poverty;

* The right to full and equal protection of the law;

* The right to productive and gainful employment;

* The right to economic, political and social opportunity free from the obstruction of discrimination based on race, creed or sex;

* The right to a clean and decent neighborhood;

* The right to life, free from violence and terrorism.

Lt. Col. Seto Honored With Decorations

DISTINGUISHED SOLDIER - Lt. Col. Seto receives five decorations for service in Vietnam "above and beyond the call of duty" during ceremonies at CDEC. Presenting decorations is CDEC's commanding general, Brigadier General Ray Ochs.

Five of the most respected decorations of the United States Army have been recently awarded to Lt. Colonel Sam C. Seto Jr., Deputy Team Chief of Project Team IV, US Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command on Ft. Ord.

All were conferred for events related to his personal heroism and distinguished service in Vietnam where he was assigned before joining CDEC in August. The medals presented to Lt. Colonel Seto were the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star for Valor, an Army Commendation Medal and the Purple Heart.

The presentations were made in recent ceremonies by CDEC's commanding general, Brigadier General Ray Ochs and the Deputy Chief of Staff for Experimentation, Colonel Worthington Mahone.

Lt. Colonel Seto, who was born in Juai, Hawaii, has been in the service since June of 1953 and has served not only in Vietnam and his home state, but also in Korea and several stateside posts. These include CDEC's parent unit, the Combat Developments Command at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia where he served as Combat Developments Officer for a time.

He is a graduate of Kamehameha High School in Hawaii and was graduated with a BA degree in Sociology from the University of Hawaii. He entered the service through the University's ROTC program.

While in the service, he has attended the Infantry School at Ft. Benning, Georgia and the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Virginia.

While assigned to CDEC, he resides on the post with his wife Florence. They have three children: Arlene, Barbara and Sam III.

has enbargoed its entire production. Argentina wants to save its hides for its own leather shoes, handbangs, garments, whatever. That brought world buyers to the U.S. in search of cattlehides. There still would be enough for us and for others, too, except that some people want more than their share.

Biggest buyers this year have been giant Japanese buying firms which bid up the price of cattlehides in an attempt to corner a big chunk of them. Japanese firms are paying premiums to get more hides than they usually do but in the U.S. it's easy for them. They've got a pocketful of dollars earned by dumping low labor cost items on the world.

What this has meant is that hides shot up by 300 percent in one year, leather was forced up 40 to 50 percent and the average man's shoes this winter are $3 to $4 more expensive. The American consumer is being forced to bear the cost of this international raid on American natural resources.

Similar raids are taking place on American lumber, mineral ores and fuels. Homes cost more, steel - and automobiles - cost more, gasoline and natural gas cost more. We will be paying more for everything - and having less of everything, unless our government acts.

What's needed is a simple case of "do unto others ..." Lets sell a fair share of our natural resources and the products of our farms and factories. But let's keep enough of what a bountiful Providence put in our land for ourselves and our children.

Let the White House and Congress provide controls on the exports of those natural resources which we need to feed, clothe and shoe our people. Let the U.S. Government put moderate controls on the exports of cattlehides to guarantee the home market as much leather and shoes as we had a year ago. There's enough for us and for others, but not for the greedy.

Well, my chest is relieved as we are starting 1973 off right. It may be another year before I fall into a bag like that again. But someone should wake someone up to the way things are being put down on us. Andy is home again and feeling better. It's a hard and bumpy road for him. But there is consolation that you people out there are cushioning it with your prayers and your candles and your faith. He can feel you as you reach out your helping hands to assist him through this terrible time. He can hear you as you speak to him as Kahlil Gibran speaks in "Voice of the Masters." Gibran says:

"Confort you, my beloved wear ones, for there is a Great Power behind and beyond this world of Matter, a Power that is all Justice, Mercy, Pity and Love.

"You are like a flower that grows in the shate; the gentle breeze comes and bears your seed into the sunlight, where you will live again in beauty.

"You are like a bare tree bowed with winter's snow; Spring shall come and spread her garments of green over you; and Truth shall rend the veil of tears that hides your laughter. I take you unto me, my afflicted brother, I love you, and I hold contempt for your oppressors."

Andy can sense your concern for him, as he goes about his daily work of rehabilitating his body and rejuvinating his senses. Through me he says: "Thank God you're there."

Satisfied With Choice

NEW YORK--Appearing in the Broadway production of "Take a Giant Step," after winning the role from thousands of young hopefuls, Lou Gossett's decision to stay with a stage career was firmed up when he and Ben Gazzara tied for the New York Drama Critics' Award as most promising Broadway newcomer of the year.

After transferring to a drama course from pre-med, Gossett appeared with Shirley Booth in "Desk Set" on Broadway.

After playing in the musical "Lost in the Stars," he joined Sidney Poitier in "Raisin in the Sun," later repeating his role in the motion picture.

In 1971, the actor won the Los Angeles Critics' Award for "Murderous Angels" for his performance as Patrice Lumumba, famous leader of the Congo government.

BEVERLY HILLS--Famed Black singer and musician James Brown has been signed by Lawrence A. Gordon, American International vuce-president in charge of worldwide production, to compose the music for "Black Caesar" and to perform from the theme.

Brown has had 50 records on the hit charts, including his latest, "Get on the Good Foot," His "I Got A Bag of My Own" was a runaway favorite.

"Black Caesar" is a crime drama filmed primarily on location in Harlem.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford, Executive Director

Just a quick note to wish you all a Happy New Year. May 1973 bring you health and prosperity!

Looking back, 1972 has been a very good year for the Seaside Chamber of Commerce. We have made tremendous strides forward and still have a long way to go.

Some of our achievements have been as follows:

1) 90 new members...we now have a total of 210 out of the 435 businesses in Seaside. That makes us good representatives of the business community.

2) We now have a new map of Seaside and the Peninsula, our last map was about 5 years old.

3) The Career Education Program with mini-seminars at Seaside High for students and businessmen to discuss varied career opportunities.

4) The highly successful Parade of Champions held on the 2nd of July, plus the annual Pancake Breakfast in the morning.

5) Christmas decorations purchased by the Chamber with the benefit of lots of good publicity.

6) A slide presentation on Seaside, produced by the Navy Postgraduate School and the Chamber. It shows the development of Seaside and was presented to nearly every service club on the Peninsula. We also appeared on TV and radio, presenting the "new" image of Seaside.

7) A Program of Work, "P.E.P.P. - Planning, Education and Promotion for Progress." Specific programs were determined during a general membership luncheon where members were asked what they though the Chamber should do to make Seaside a better place to live, work and do business. We received good suggestions for 1973.

8) The Business Development Committee has helped three new motels, two car dealerships and two clothing stores to locate in Seaside.

9) The newly formed Military Affairs committee is working on relocating the USO to Seaside and providing bus transportation from Fort Ord to Seaside.

10) A Government Affairs Committee has been formed and will be attending all meetings of the City Council, Planning Commission and Redevelopment Agency, so that businessmen will be better informed about the actions of City Government.

We have many more plans for the new year, and with your help they will all come true.

The New Man

With the new year, and the many resolutions that are made and broken, perhaps it would be fiting to discuss true newness and change.

Many people believe that because they are the way they are now, they will never be any different, for this is our human nature, so why try to change it?

This is, I believe, a pathetic and apathetic view of the ignorant. Have these people never seen change in themselves? Have they been the same all their life? If so, it is no wonder they feel as they do.

But they are unaware of the fact that there is a lower and higher nature in all men; one being the physical-ego nature, and the other being the spiritual nature, which in reality is the divine nature, God in every man. And one can, with practice, resolution and patience reach the higher nature, and remain in it, in a state as close to perfection as is humanly possible. But there can be no real forward spiritual progress until a man at least realizes a real possibility and even a probability to have the ability to evolve.

Every man has a dualism within himself which is the battle of his two sides: the base ego (seperate nature) and the spiritual - divine (unitive nature). Do you realize the battle whish is waged every day, within, for the possesion of your total Self? Have you heard the guru - voice - conscience within which always speaks before, during and after you do actions, and think thoughts, which are harmful to yourself and to others. Can anyone honestly say, "I didn't know any better, therefore I am guiltless?"

It is true that we may not act out of real understanding, but the ability to understand is within every man at all times. It is a man's choice to use the ability or not. This is the difference between an open and a closed mind. The open mind always and everywhere seeks understanding and Truth. The closed mind seeks nothing since it thinks it is right and fully mature.

Man can change. Man does change. Man is not a finished entity. He, like all of life, is in the process of evolution, the process of obtaining higher and higher levels of consciousness until he is a perfected being, and thus united with the Source of his being which we call God.

New Year's resolutions may never work at the time, but console yourself with the knowledge that every day you are coming a little bit closer to understanding and your higher, divine Self. If you understand these words you are already on the last lap of your journey.

COMMUNITY PROJECTS
Neighborhood Youth Center

After considerable effort by our City staff in submitting our application to HUD for a grant to expand our YOUTH CENTER, that appication for grant funds was disapproved. Some of the reasons stated in the disapproval are quoted for your information. "Your application rated comparatively low in the percentage of low and moderate income families where needs are proposed to be served as compared to the few applications approved and the relatively superior opportunities for minority business opportunities. We are returning your application and suggest that you look to other sources for its funding."

We do have another Community Project that needs community help. The David Cutino Park, which is currently being built at LaSalle and Noche Buena, does not include a building for comfort or sanitation purposes. In other words -- no toilets for boys and girls. HUD's regulations for a neighborhood park wouldn't stretch to include toilet facilities. The City is trying to come up with enough unbudgeted monies to stub out the sewer/water/and electrical lines and to pour a foundation slab for the proposed building. What we direly need now are contributions from our civic organizations to help us defray the costs for the materials required to complete a first class "Comfort Building" in the David Cutino Park.

In addition to our civic organizations, our local Carpenters, Plumbers, Electricians, and other Trade Unions might be persuaded to assist us in this Community Project. Anyone or any organization that desires to help, please contact the Mayor or Mr. Cleve Williams our Parks & Recreation Director on phone #394-8531.

Seaside has concerned citizens and this is one project that we can all pitch in to help complete.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q -- My wife served in the Marine Corps during World War I. She passed away serveral years ago, but her illness and death had nothing to do with her military service. I hear there is some kine of new law allowing widowers like me to get a VA pension.

A -- Yes. This is Public Law 92-540. But there is an income limitation for the pension.

Q -- My husband was killed in the Army in Vietnam and I would like to enroll in a well-known university in Paris, France. Will VA help to do this?

A -- Yes. If you are eligible for assistance under the Dependents' Educational Assistance Program, you may now attend approved foreign institutions of higher learning.

Q -- My brother is blind from a Vietnam war injury. He's home now but we can't seem to get him interested in living again. Isn't VA doing anything about young men like him?

A -- VA recently entered into an agreement with the Blinded Veterans Association for B.V.A. representatives, themselves blind, to augment VA services to blind veterans.

q -- My husband was totally disabled as the result of an accident while he was in the Air Force. With him and the children to look after, I can't leave home to go to school so I can get a job. Can VA arrange for me to to to school at night or take a coorespondence course?

A -- Yes. Women in your situation are eligible for education benefits under more liberal rules under the new education law. Please discuss this with the veterans benefits counselors at the nearest VA regional office.

Q -- I am drawing VA pension under the so-called "old law," and wonder if I can change to the "new law?"

A -- Yes. Before deciding, however, it is suggested you discuss it with a VA representative or write the office having your claim file.

Q -- How long can a veteran take on-the-job training?

A -- On-the-job training may last up to two years -- apprenticeship programs up to three years.

Q -- Is my father eligible for a VA pension if he served in the U.S. Army on the Mexican border before World War II?

A -- He may qualify for disability pension provided he served honorably for 90 days or more in one of the following areas: Mexico; one of the adjacent states; Guatemala or British Honduras; or at sea in the area of Mexico. Full details are available at the VA office nearest your father.

Q -- My present husband has adopted my daughter whose father died from injures sustained in World War II. Is she entitled to training under VA's Dependent's Educational Assistance program?

A -- Yes. Her eligibility is based on her father's service-connected death, and adoption does not affect her eligibility.

Q -- I was recently discharged from the Army after serving four years, part of it in Vietnam. I'm wondering if I can get a GI loan and go to school under the GI Bill at the same time.

A -- Yes. No bar exists against participation in each of these programs at the same time.

Q -- Is it true that Modified Life Insurance benefits will not be reduced to one-half before the veteran reaches age 70?

A -- Benefits on Modified Life policies issued prior to July 1, 1972, will be reduced on the veteran's 65th birthday. However, benefits under a new plan, "Modified Life Age 70" which became available from the VA on July 1, 1972, will not be reduced until the 70th birthday.

Form 1040 U.S. Individual ... Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) My son earned nearly $2,000 last year. Does he have to file a Federal income tax return?

A) If your son is single, you are not claiming him as a dependent and he did not have self-employment earnings of $400 or more, he does not have to file a return because his gross income is less than $2050. However, if you or someone else could claim your son as a dependent and he had income from dividends, interest or other types of unearned income, he must file a return if his gross income was at least $750. He must also file a return if he had net self-employment earnings of $400 or more.

Of course, he should file a return to claim any refund due him for income tax withheld.

Q) I have all my tax records. Can I file without my Form W-2?

A) No. A withholding statement, Form W-2, for each job held during 1972 must be attached to your return. Failure to do so delayed the refunds of many taxpayers last year.

Q) I plan to go to a commercial tax preparer to have my 1972 return filled out. Is he responsible for any errors on the return?

A) No. Each taxpayer is responsible for the accuracy of his Federal income tax return, no matter who fills it out.

If you do use the services of a tax preparer this year, be sure he signs your return and enters on the form his social security number or employer identification number.

Q) Is it true that this year taxpayers can designate $1 of their tax to go to a presidential election campaign fund?

A) Yes. This year, taxpayers, at their option, may designate $1 of their taxes ($2 if a joint return) to go to the political party of their choice or to a nonpartisan general fund.

The "check-off" is made on a separate form—IRS Form 4875—which is included in your tax forms package, and not on the Form 1040 itself. If you want to designate a dollar for the fund, complete the Form 4875 and attach it to your Form 1040. If you do not wish to earmark money for this purpose, do not file Form 4875.

Q) Will the IRS still figure out a person's tax, if he wants them to?

A) Yes. The Internal Revenue Service will figure out your tax if your adjusted gross income is $20,000 or less and was only from wages, salary and tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities, and if you claim the standard deduction. For more details, see your tax form instructions.

Q) What do you mean by "adjusted gross income"?

A) This is the total income that appears on line 17 of your Form 1040. Adjusted gross income is arrived at by subtracting business expenses and certain employee expenses, such as sick pay, moving expenses, etc. from your gross income. For most taxpayers, however, adjusted gross income is equivalent to their total income.

This year, your Form 1040 instructions contain a glossary of frequently used tax terms to make it easier for you to fill out your return.

Q) Are medical insurance premiums deductible in full?

A) If you itemize deductions, you may deduct in full one-half of the amount you paid for medical insurance, up to $150. The balance of your premiums is added to your other medical expenses. Only your medical expenses in excess of three percent of your adjusted gross income are deductible.

For more information, write your Internal Revenue district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication 502, "Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses."

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everyone.

Now that the Holiday Season is over, we must work toward the goals that we have set for the year of 1973. TODAY'S ARMY offers job opportunities, choices of training, and places to go, especially for those of you who are interested in Legal Clerk work. Everybody knows what the inside of a courtroom looks like, even if they have never been in one. Scads of movies and television shows have tried to capture the drama that sometimes takes place in court.

Most people think of lawyers when they hear the word courtroom. And it's easy to understand why. But actually, though they often assume the lead in the drama unfolding., lawyers are but a part of the legal machinery necessary to process and distribute justice in the American judicial system. In every case, often working unobtrusively behind the scenes, a legal clerk is quietly preparing the advance work and charting the progress of the proceedings. They are never very obvious and they are anything but household names, but they like their work and are proud to play a vital part in the legal system.

Just as the demand for trained and skilled lawyers is increasing, so too is the demand for allied professionals involved in courtroom proceedings, be they judges, law clerks, court reporters or whatever.

A legal clerk in TODAY'S ARMY is an experience a young man or women is able to get by enlisting. It is an experience that will be of great assistance when it comes time to earn a buck on the outside. Of course, some never find themselves in that position. They like the Army, what is able to give them and what they feel they are able to contribute to it. And they also like the thought of that early early retirement with full pension. Some of these people are, or have been, legal clerks. They've been exposed to a wide range of responsibilities. They've assisted in the preparation of court records, helped to reclassify important board proceedings and sometimes even critical claims investigations. It might not be the kind of job that's going to make a guy famous. But then everybody can't be a Perry Mason or an Owen Marshall.

If you are interested in being a Legal Clerk or any other field you would like to persue, please contact us at 431-Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Your Social Security

My son drew student benefits until he was 20. Then he dropped out of school. He is now 21 and back in school. Can he receive checks again?

Yes. Even though his payments stopped, he may be reentitled until he is 22 or until the end of the semester. He will have to file a new application and we will verify his school attendance.

My brother, who drew Social Security benefits, recently died. I am responsible for paying the funeral home. Do I need to file any forms for the burial payment?

Yes. You need to contact your nearest Social Security office to file an application for the burial payment. You can do this by telephone or by coming in to the office.

I've got a bunck of old doctor bills and I have just never bothered filing a claim under my Medicare Part B. Can I still be paid for these?

Yes, if you file by December 31st of the year following the year in which the service was furnished. Bring them to the Social Security office now.

I have recently requested a statement of earnings from the Social Security office in Baltimore. Are my military earnings included on the statement which I received?

If you have military service after December 31, 1956, it will be shown on the statement you receive. If your military service was before that date, we will obtain the information regarding your military earnings at the time you file for Social Security benefits and credit your record at that time.

My husband, who's 66 and enrolled in Medicare, can't get monthly Social Security checks because he's still working full time and earning too much. I'm 62 and not working. Can I get a wife's payment on his work record even though he isn't getting payments?

No. Since your husband is still working and is not getting monthly checks, you cannot get monthly payments as a wife. However, you may be eligible for payments on your own Social Security record if you have had enough work over the years in jobs covered under Social Security. You should call the office to consider filing an aplication on your own record.

Are room and board counted as wages paid to household workers under Social Security?

No, only cash payments to household employees count for Social Security coverage. However, all cash paid counts, even if part of it is paid to cover the cost of board, room and bus fare.

I'll be 65 next year and I'm trying to decide whether to sign up for medical insurance under Medicare. A friend told me that if I do sign up for it, I can never drop it. Is this true?

No, you can cancel your medical insurance under Medicare. Your medical insurance protection would stop at the end of the calendar quarter following the quarter your notice is received by the Social Security Administration. But if you cancel, you're allowed only one chance to sign up again.

I'm a widow getting monthly Social Security payments. I have a chance now to do some part-time work. Since I've never had a Social Security number of my own, should I use the number on my check?

No. The number on your check is your late husband's Social Security number. You should apply for your own Social Security number. To get one--just call, write or visit the Social Security office.

What can a widow age 55 expect from Social Security?

If her late husband was insured under the Social Security program, there is a lump-sum payment not to exceed $255 payable to her. If she has a child under age 18 in her care, there will be monthly benefits for her and the child. If she is disabled within the meaning of the Social Security definition, she may be entitled to monthly benefits beginning with the month she became a widow. If she is not disabled and there are no minor children, she will not be entitled to monthly benefits until she is at least age 60.

Q- I am 36 and get monthly Social Security disab ility payments. I got married last week. My wife has children by a previous marriage. Will they be able to get monthly payments too?

A- After you've been married for one year, your wife and stepchildren can get benefits until they're 22 if they are unmarried and attend school full time. Any child born after the marriage is eligible from the time the child is born. In this case, your wife would also be entitled beginning with the month of the child's birth.

Ford Foundation Changes Kinds Of Grants Used To Upgrade Black Colleges

National Black News Service

NEW YORK--Twenty-five Black colleges have been selected by the Ford Foundation to receive approximately $50 million over the next five years.

In addition, another $50 million in scholarships and fellowships will be awarded to Black Americans, Mexican Americans, Puerto Ricans and American Indian students and faculty members durin the same period.

The grants represent another change in the foundation's attitude toward Black colleges.

A year ago Ford announced the establishment of a $100 million program to be concentrated on 10 traditionally Black colleges that were judged to show the most promise for future development.

Prior to last year, Ford monies had been spread over many minority institutions. Under last year's new policy of providing grants for fewer schools, Ford reasoned that the money would have more impact if it were given to fewer institutions in larger amounts.

That decision was strongly criticized by many of the nation's 51 Black colleges. This criticism apparently prompted Ford to study the colleges and their potential needs more thoroughly.

"They (the Ford researchers) found more strength and more potential than our preliminary surveys suggested, so much so that we have enlarged somewhat the number of institutions we had tentatively planned to assist," said McGeorge Bundy, president of the foundation, in announcing the grants to 25 rather than 10 colleges.

Bundy said that the financial needs of all Black colleges are "quite as serious as they were a year ago" and that other foundations are being asked to help meet these needs

He said the Fairchild Foundation of New York has agreed to provide $2 million over five years for Virginia Union University, with Ford Foundation staff monitoring the grant.

CATEGORIES

The Ford Foundation's opening grants to Black colleges and universities are in three categories:

* Start-up grants were given to eight institutions to help the schools determine how they can best use the funds to improve services for their undergraduate students. These "start-up" funds range from $4 million to $8 million and went to Benedict College, Columbia, South Carolina; Bishop College, Dallas, Texas; Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee; Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia; St. Augustine's College, Raleigh, North Carolina; Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama; Virginia Union University, Richmond, Virginia and Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, Ohio.

* Atlanta University Center, a group of six institutions, was given an initial sum of $3.5 million, with the possibility of the five-year total ranging between $15 and $20 million. These funds are designed to strengthen not only the individual schools, but also the cooperative activities that are managed by the Atlanta University Center Corporation. Schools participating in the grant are Clark College, Morehouse College, Spelman College, Atlanta University and the Interdenominational Theological Center.

* Twelve additional colleges and universities were given one-time grants ranging from $100,000 to $250,000 to be used as they see fit to strengthen and develop programs for undergraduates students. These schools are Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida; Bennett College, Greensboro, North Carolina; Dillard University, New Orleans, Louisiana, Houston-Tillotson College, Austin, Texas; Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, North Carolina; LeMoyne-Owen College, Memphis, Tennessee; Lincoln University, Lincoln, Pennsylvania; Miles College, Birmingham, Alabama; Rust College, Holly Springs, Alabama; Talladega College, Talladega, Alabama; Tougaloo, Mississippi and Xavier University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

CRITERIA

According to Dr. Benjamin F. Payton, officer-in-charge of minority programs in the Ford Foundation's Office of Higher Education and Research, all private Black colleges were considered for inclusion in the program.

Time To Make Resolution To Shape Up

By Charles A. Bucher
Consultant to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports

In the ancient cultures of the Tigris Euphrates Valley prior to the birth of Christ, holidays and the festivals that accompanied them were regarded as a time for dulla--for man to be of service to the gods. In so doing it was felt he would enhance his own well being.

Times have changed. For many Americans, the holiday and festival season is a time for riotous living. Foods rich in calories cover our tables, the round of cocktail parties in the office and at home is underway, and the football bowl games keep us comatose in our chairs for hours.

Ironically, in many ways the holiday season actually plots against, rather than for, our physical well-being. Like the lady who was trying to shed some extra pounds. She was reading about suggested diets and came across the warning:

"Remember, there is a conspiracy to make you overweight."

The writer went on to point out that merchandise sales artists, candy shops, newspaper and TV ads, restaurants and even friends try to get you to drink too much, take it easy and consume rich and fattening foods.

This is the time for us to take stock of ourselves and resolve to do better during the next 12 months.

At a New Year's Eve party last year, a reveler shouted as he downed his fifth martini and puffed on a cigarette:

"My New Year's resolution this year is to quit smoking!"

This remark set off a chain reaction among other party goers who chimed in with their own resolutions: "I'm going to lose 10 pounds," "I resolve that I will go to the Y and swim twice a week," "I'm going to give up drinking except on weekends."

As a result of our holiday indulgence, on New Year's morning many of us wake up feeling terrible. Our heads throb (too much to drink), our throats are raw (too many cigarettes), our stomachs are gross and queasy (too much rich food) and our backs ache (too much sitting, too little exercise).

Crawling out of bed and swallowing two seltzer tablets, we solemnly swear to make some --which we are definitely going to keep this time. Next day, the vacation ended, we drag ourselves back to the office with extra pounds on our bones, flabby muscles on our extremities, a feeling of being completely worn out and exhausted from the partygoing and a sense of guilt on our conscience.

Many of us make New Year's resolutions which, if carried out, will better our health and make us more physically fit.

If sincerely interested in getting off to a good start on January 1, why not start this year with a pre-New Year's resolution? Today is a good time to resolve to exercise restraint and moderation. If we do, instead of physically retrogressing, we will make progress toward our goal of fitness. At the same time, we will also enjoy ourselves more; after all, we know that the hangovers, lethargy, aches and bulges resulting from overindulgence are deterrents to enjoying ourselves.

Unity Of Effort Is Secret Of Succes

HOLLYWOOD--The fabulous Temptations, having established themselfes as perennial national chart toppers with such hits as "My Girl," "Beauty's Only Skin Deep" and "Cloud Nine," have scored again with their current million-selling number one single, "Papa Was a Rolling Stone," and smash LP, "All Directions."

Adding more entertainment honors to their monumental score, the Gordy recording artists recently received the award for the best album of 1972, "All Directions" at the recent annual NAACP Image Awards banquet held in Los Angeles.

Keeping in touch with the Black community by showing their concern for its betterment, the Tempts were sworn in as voter registrars prior to the national elections and registered many new voters throughout the country in completion on their national tour.

Charity benefits and appearances in parades and drives are all a part of the Tempts' busy schedule. Being concerned at all times for those in need has bestowed the Tempts with a certain warm humanitarian feeling. And implementing this feeling on stage and for society is what they are all about.

The Temptations all maintain an honest spirit of respect for one another, a professional approach to their business of entertainment and a dedication of individuality within themselves towards the overall effect of the group.

Otis Williams, the group's quiet leader through the years, has been a Herculean force in unifying all the efforts of the group. "Our audience," he said, "come to see what the Temptations are all about after ten years, and we not only have to be as good as we were, but we have to keep on being better. There's only one way to do that, we have to be totally together. We have to constantly think about what is best for the group."

Another one of the veteran members, Melvin Franklin, added, "I have always been determined to make the Temptations the best group there is and to preserve that feeling with all the members of the unit. After all, we're all in this group, we must stick together and help each other."

After joining the group several years ago, Dennis Edwards commented on its mood. "When I first came with the group, it was undergoing some changes in personnel. We had to work longer to pull together all the parts of the group and we still have to do that today. Sure audiences change, but if you give them what they want, they keep coming back. All of us try to keep ourselves and the group open for ideas to make the Temptations better. We never stop working for what's best."

Richard Street is exceptionally quick witted and a young man whose stream of comical one-liners add lightness whenever the group is together.

Allensworth Bill Awaits Governor's Signing Into Law

SACRAMENTO--Assembly Bill AB562 requires acquisition by the State of California of the townsite of Allensworth in Tulare County, for inclusion in the state park system, as well as the development of the land as a unit of that system, to be known as the development of the land as a unit of that system, to be known as Allensworth Historical Park.

The measure has just passed the State Senate, by a vote of 27 to 2. The Assembly passed it unanimously in July.

The bill--an historic one for Blacks--was sponsored by Assemblyman John J. Miller (D, Berkeley) and co-sponsored by Assemblymen Willie L. Brown (D, San Francisco), Yvonne Brathwaite (D, Los Angeles), Leon D. Ralph (D, Los Angeles) and Bill Greene (D, Los Angeles).

BACKGROUND

Allensworth stands as California's only town founded, financed and governed by Blacks. It was distinctive because of its one-time wealth and rapid growth. It was colonized in 1908 by Colonel Allan Allensworth, a Negro chaplain, born a slave, who served for 15 years in the United States Army, who saw in the rich soil of the southwestern part of Tulare County the opportunity for a group of Blacks to become independent.

After bargaining for about 3,000 acres of land there, he brought West about a hundred people of his race--most of them from Oklahoma, Mississippi and Kentucky.

The small colony at first prospered, then at a time of water shortage found it necessary to sacrifice two-thirds of its holdings.

Colonel Allensworth's dream was to establish a community where Black people might live and develop themselves, free from the direct influence of slave-oriented social attitudes.

He envisioned the community of Allensworth as a refuge where people might live and settle permanently or come and educate themselves technically and psychologically to meet the requirements needed to construct a meaningful and fruitful life in a hostile and competitive society.

PLANS

Legislative recommendations have requested acquisition of 240 acres but the development plan focuses on a 120-acre historical story zone, consisting of four major areas, which will interpret and illustrate the history of the development of the town of Allensworth, the historical development of agriculture of the area, California's outdoor history and the educational and cultural complex which will tell the general history of Black Americans. Remaining acres are to be developed where necessary to support the historical developments.

Support facilities will include day use, overnight use, concession facilities and facilities for special events and buffer areas.

PURPOSES

As Assemblyman Miller has said, "the purpose of establishing a unit of the State Park System dedicated to Black Pioneers is to provide for the public a truthful and accurate historical prospectus of the Black American, the significance of the role he has played and the Allensworth, the historical development of agriculture of the area, California's outdoor history and the educational and cultural complex which will tell the general history of Black Americans. Remaining acres are to be developed where necessary to support the historical developments.

Support facilities will include day use, overnight use, concession facilities and facilities for special events and buffer areas.

PURPOSES

As Assemblyman Miller has said, "the purpose of establishing a unit of the State Park System dedicated to Black Pioneers is to provide for the public a truthful and accurate historical prospectus of the Black American, the significance of the role he has played and the many contributions he has made."

Tulare resident Cecil W. Berkley, who serves as a subcommittee chairman of the Allensworth Advisory Committee, regards Allensworth as "the largest project in this nation during this period in time concerning Black people" and evisions this project "igniting projects similar nationally, because people are very quick to follow a good pattern."

Berkley considers the recognition of Allensworth as "a beginning step toward the creation of a much needed bridge that some day may span the chasm of distrust and misunderstanding that has our nation so violently torn today."

Volvo Names Managers

TORRANCE--Bengt Anderson has been appointed to the position of Tourist and Diplomatic Sales Manager, it was announced by Robert J. Sinclair, president, Volvo Western Distributing, Inc., Torrance, California.

Anderson succeeds Horst Stahl, named to assist Consumer Relations Manager Don Cronbaugh in that newly formed department.

Through these pages pass the messages of some of the most Beautiful People we know --our advertisers!

Room 222's Jason Is Hero To His Peers

"I've got a message for you! Don't get so uptight! Hang loose and that's cool."

The speaker was Heshimu Cumbuka, who plays Jason, the outspoken rebel of TV's "Room 222." His audience was 240 students of a crowded minority - dominated school with inner-city problems.

As the antagonistic and caustic member of the class in the television series, Jason has become a hero to many students.

"He tells it like it is," says Heshimu of the character.

Heshimu was given his Swahili name, which means respected young warrior, by his fellow actors and instructors at a theater workshop. As Arlington Banks, he had attended Washington High School in Los Angeles, a Black-dominated school in south central Los Angeles.

The kids were quiet when Heshimu arrived. There was no applause. He was there to talk to them, but they weren't buying until they heard him.

"Sorry I was late, but I got back into town late last night. I just didn't get it all together this morning."

There were snickers from a few of the students.

He dragged some typewritten notes from his back pocket and glanced over them.

"Listen, I heard some of you have some trouble getting into reading. Be cool! You'll get the hand of it. That's my message. So let's just rap."

The students began to laugh. They accepted him as their friend. A few rose with questions. He repeated each question so the other students could hear it, then answered.

"The girl asked if I was married." A giggle went up among the girls in the audience.

"Well, now, my mama told me when I was very young....," he paused as the whole group broke out into loud laughter. Jason/Heshimu Cumbuka/Arlington Banks was into his pitch to more Black, brown and white students to stay in school.

Heshimu started meeting with the high school students during his first year on "Room 222." A problem had developed at a local high school. The principal had called to see if someone could come out and talk to the students. Heshimu and David Jolliffe, who plays Bernie, volunteered their services. "The results were never as dynamic as with personalities," one teacher said, adding "Heshimu is particularly good. He seems to have such a rapport with them. They listen because they accept him as one of them."

Historic Rest Stop Is Open

SACRAMENTO--A rest stop with a big plus is the Emigrant Trail Museum at Donner Memorial State Park along Interstate 80 north of Lake Tahoe.

The museum tells the story of Man's conquest of the Sierra Nevada, including the drama of the Donner Party. Relics of the Donner ordeal are on display.

Shown in word and picture are the finding, the building, and the traveling of the rugged road across the Sierra Nevada--from the first explorations to the completion of the first transcontinental railroad.

Displays show the mountain men who blazed the trial, the miners who followed the trail beginning in 1849, the settlers with their wagon trains who followed the miners, the Chinese laborers who layed the railroad tracks and the "Big Four" men of the estern railroads.

Teenager's Dream Comes True

HOLLYWOOD--"What kind of kid is Donna," pondered the mother of Donna Bryan. "Well, she has more best friends than any kid alive!"

Donna is a 13-1/2-year-old whose dream of a lifetime has already come true.

With less than a year of acting lessons behind her and absolutely no professional experience, Donna is the star of the "ABC Theatre" presentation, "If You Giva a Dance You Gotta Pay the Band."

Her mother spent three weeks in Norwalk, Connecticut with her during shooting on the drama.

How does she feel about Donna getting this big break so young in life? ':If she really wants to act, it's the nicest thing that could have happened to her," she answered thoughtfully.

"And if she finds out that she doesn't like acting, it's an advantage, too, because she's young enough to find out now before she plans out her whole life. I don't know how she feels about standing around all day in the cold doing the same scene over and over again."

"If You Give a Dance You Gotta Pay the Band" shows a view of ghetto life that some people are going to be uncomfortable about, but Mrs. Bryan finds it true to life, "especially the characters. I work with the welfare department and I see them all.

"I think this play is very tru," she continued. And the part that Donna plays, of a strong-minded youngster who won't be corrupted by what's around her . . . that's a very true character, too. There are lots of kids like Billie Jean (Donna's role) who refuse to take drugs and get mixed up with that kind of thing."

Like other teenagers, Donna likes ice skating in the winter and is fortunate enough to go to day camp in the summer. She is in love with the Jackson 5 and a group called the Silvers and is mad about the guitar, acting and clothes.

Since this is her first real job, aside from baby-sitting, Mrs. Bryan gave careful thought to the matter of Donna's salary and the new fortune went into the bank.

"She'll get $25 for herself and the rest is for when she gets out of high school. If she wants college, then the money goes to college or acting lessons or anything that she wants. In the meantime, she gets $25, of which $5 gets donated to the church. I wonder what that, but that's the way she's going to say to it is!"

Everybody needs vitamins for health, and a savings account for wealth. Now, learn about both at Independent Savings.

To help you have a healthier day, we have a special booklet that tells you about the vitamins you need for good health, and what common natural foods contain them. Come in and get yours free while they last.

yours FREE... while they last!

To help you have a wealthier day, we have a wide assortment of high-potency savings accounts for you to choose from.

6% Our highest strength account for long-term financial health. Simply take $5,000 or more, leave it with us for 2 years, for maximum interest with insured safety.

5 3/4% Almost as potent when taken as directed: Leave $1,000 or more with us for one year, to ease the pain of financial insecurity.

5% The Minimum Daily Savings Requirement for everybody. You get day-in day-out passbook convenience with as little as a $5.00 deposit.

Experts agree — An Independent Savings Account contains far more essential earning ingredients than the other leading brand. Just compare the interest rates on the labels. For a healthier, wealthier day, be sure to pay us a visit now.
